GUEST HOUSE (Rodger's Place)
Oxford, Butler County, Ohio

Owner. Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Guests of the University are lodged here.

Date of Erection. Early 1840's.

Builder. Dr. Moffat, a professor of esthetics at Miami University.

Present Condition. In good repair. Present stairs were built in 1950. Originally they were in the back hall, at right angles to the center hall. The east side of the house has had many alterations. The doorways leading to the hall from the front room and the room directly behind it were originally directly opposite the openings from the west side. The east front room has been made smaller and the room in back of it was originally three rooms. There was once a built-in cupboard on the south wall of the bed room.

Number of Stories. Two.

Materials of Construction. Foundations of native rock (no cellar). Wood siding on exterior. Wood shingle roof.

Other Existing Records. Drawings and written data in the hands of Miami University.

Additional Data. The Guest House was presented to Miami University in 1930 by John R. Simpson of the class of '99.
